The National Domestic Violence Hotline has answered over 5.5 million contacts (calls, chats, and texts) since our lines first opened in 1996, and demand for our services continues to increase. We experienced a 2.3% increase in contacts received in 2020 compared to 2019. Since 2015, our contact volume has increased by 46%. I credit the Hotline with saving my life from a person who chose to abuse, giving me the facts I needed in an emergency to equip myself to get out.

As a survivor who received support, I know firsthand what a difference you make. The need is greater now when it's harder to get out.

The Hotline truly helped me in one of my darkest moments, and I am forever grateful for the person that listened to me that night.

WHO WE ARE

First established in 1996 by the Violence Against Women Act, and sustained with funding from the Family Violence Prevention and Services Act, the National Domestic Violence Hotline is the only 24/7/365 national organization that directly serves victims of domestic violence, their friends and family via phone, chat and text. Our work rests on three pillars – crisis intervention, prevention, and systems change.

The heart of The Hotline is our highly-trained advocate staff, who provide high-quality, trauma-informed education, validation, and connection to services that empower victims and survivors to make life-changing decisions with dignity and respect. We recognize that victims and survivors need a wide range of assistance; therefore, we maintain a robust database of approximately 5,000 carefully vetted providers and resources, including shelter and transitional housing, counseling, culturally and linguistically specific programs, and legal services.

To respond to the unique needs of teens and young adults, The Hotline launched love is respect, the National Dating Abuse Helpline in 2007. After over a decade of operations, and after careful consideration of the needs of youth, love is respect was refreshed in 2020 with a new brand and enhanced youth-informed resources.

love is respect continues to be the national resource to disrupt and prevent unhealthy relationships and intimate partner violence by empowering young people through inclusive and equitable education, support, and resources. love is respect is now focused on providing 24/7 information, support, and advocacy to young people between the ages of 13 and 26 who have questions about their romantic relationships. As love is respect continues to evolve, we continue to aim to be a safe and inclusive space for young people to access help and information in a setting specifically for them.

We advocate for survivor-centered policies and legislation using knowledge and data informed by speaking with hundreds of thousands of survivors each year. In coalition with other leaders in the field, we ensure that survivors are represented when policymakers discuss matters that effect their safety and support.

The Hotline and love is respect provide the following services, via phone; online chat; or text, with access to 200+ languages:

- Trauma-informed crisis intervention
- Personalized safety planning
- Domestic violence education
- Healthy relationship information
- Referrals to local/state resources

Our services are free and confidential. To learn more about The Hotline and how to support our mission, please visit thehotline.org.
